教育学部

The Elementary and Secondary School Teacher Training Program trains future elementary, junior high school, and special needs education school teachers. Students who have completed this program will either obtain a first-class elementary school teaching certificate, or a first-class junior high school teaching certificate. The Faculty of Education provides an education with a regional focus as students are taught to incorporate local materials into their teaching methods. To integrate theory with practice and enhance practical teaching skills, the faculty recommends students to actively volunteer in the field. With these efforts, the faculty aims to nurture teachers who are well-versed not only in their teaching subjects but are also adequately equipped as mentors to their students. Graduates of the faculty have gone on to serve in the education field in Okinawa or in their respective hometowns. In recent years, an increasing number of students have also chosen to take the teacher employment examination in the Kanto region.

教育学部の学校教育教員養成課程では小学校と中学校の教員を養成します。この課程の修了者は小学校一種の教員免許状、または中学校一種を取得します。本学部では地域も大事にする教育を展開し、地域の教材研究に基づいた教科の指導にも力を注いでいます。また、理論と実践の融合及び実践力の向上を目的に教育現場でのボランティア活動を推奨しています。これらの取り組みにより卒業と同時に教科教育と生徒指導が可能な教員を養成しています。卒業後は沖縄県をはじめ出身地の教育界で活躍しています。近年、関東地区の教員採用試験にもチャレンジしています。
